Author's declaration

I, the undersigned declare that the submitted article titled .
..... has been written by me independently. This means that, while writing the article, except for the necessary consultations, I did not rely on help from other persons, and in particular I did not engage any other persons to prepare the article or any part of it.

At the same time I acknowledge that if the above declaration should prove to be untrue, the decision to publish the article will be withdrawn, and the editors reserve the right to notify relevant bodies.
